

I'm voting yes

To the Editor,

My name is Clyde Nickols and I have been in the area for about 15 years. I worked for Bright Wood for over 12 of those. I was laid off last February and am currently going to COCC. I am one of the people that will be affected in more than one way by this bond.

First, I am a homeowner so I will have to fork over a little extra money, and second, I am going to school. I have heard a lot of people talking about how they just can't afford the money if this new bond passes. How can you not afford to pay a couple of dollars to improve the community that you and your family live in?

This bond is not only going to help in the future but it will give some people work now. How can this be a bad thing? The way that I see it, we, as a community, can sit around and wait for something to happen or we can get started and do something ourselves.

Thank you all for taking the time to read this and I hope that you will vote yes on the COCC bond.
